

About Us

Glenview Health Systems is a division of Glenview Systems, Inc., a leading manufacturer of products and services for multiple consumer based markets.

For over 25 years we have provided our customers with value-added products, leading edge technology and responsive customer service second to none.

Our products are designed for use in fitness and recreational centers, health and wellness facilities, athletic departments, schools, hospitals and doctor's offices, retail locations and other applications.

Centrally located near O'Hare Airport in Glenview, Illinois, we are positioned to provide the very best service, support and timely delivery to our customers throughout North America. In addition to our manufacturing plant, our facilities house a highly trained sales, service and engineering group along with our office support staff. At Glenview Health Systems we strive to maintain successful long-term relationships with all of our customers and hope that we have the opportunity to work with you in the future.
